Southern Rising: symphonic black metal from Montevideo, Uruguay.

Formed in early 2020, their style and sound combine modern black metal elements with classical full orchestra passages and choral music arrangements.

Its ranks include very experienced, well-known, local-scene musicians, coming from legacy bands from the 90's such as Requiem Aeternam, Zenith, Angkor-Vat, among others.

Notorious for their visual energy, polished sound and powerful shows, they've been through a vast schedule, having performed at several concerts and important festivals in Uruguay, Argentina, and Chile. Established today as a prominent act in the region, the band has a considerably active presence, also being featured as guests on international shows supporting acclaimed artists. (e.g. Cradle of Filth, Gaerea).
